

Master of Education in Urban Education

COLLEGE OF URBAN EDUCATION

39 credits

Be a force for educational equity by teaching in urban schools.

As a student in Davenport University's Master of Education in urban education program, you'll acquire culturally responsive teaching strategies that empower students intellectually, socially and emotionally.

Through mentoring and coaching, credentialed faculty will prepare you for real-world experiences with local, partnering school districts. Regular cultural intelligence assessments will offer insight into internal bias and systematic inequity.

Additionally, you'll receive a solid foundation in core teaching methods, effective lesson planning and data management. Classes such as Family and Community Partnership Practice and Differentiating Instruction will prepare you for teaching in urban schools and promoting educational equity at every turn.

Whether you're a new or experienced teacher, our urban education master's curriculum will give you the strong educational equity knowledge, skills, tools and strategies you need for effective teaching in urban schools.

Experience the Davenport difference:

- Class schedules are flexible — Real-Time Virtual (RTV) classes offered through Davenport's Global Campus.
- Partner schools' appreciation and support for our College of Urban Education students result in increasing employment opportunities and high satisfaction ratings.
- Each year, 91% of our students receive a scholarship or financial support. Unlike student loans, these funds do not need to be repaid. You also may be eligible for partnership scholarships or grants, including the TEACH grant.
- Davenport is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission (HLC).
- Davenport is a Transformational Award Winner, as recognized by the American Council on Education.
