Improve lives as a psychiatric mental health nurse practitioner

The world needs you. In today's fast-paced society, there's greater demand for mental health support across the lifespan. At Davenport, you'll receive the education you need to become a psychiatric mental health nurse practitioner and improve lives through a holistic mental health approach.

By choosing Davenport's Master of Science in Nursing program with a psychiatric mental health nurse practitioner concentration, you will gain the knowledge and skills necessary to level up your career and care for patients with mental, emotional or behavioral conditions.

The program's curriculum will provide you with comprehensive, well-rounded instruction across all disciplines, which will help you build the skills needed to address psychopathology, substance use disorders and behavioral health. You'll also learn effective counseling and crisis intervention strategies, as well as how to conduct mental health assessments and provide psychiatric care and rehabilitation.

And we know that working adults lead busy lives. That's why the program offers flexibility through both full-time or part-time programs and 100% online course delivery. Clinicals can be completed in your geographical area, too.

At Davenport, as an aspiring psychiatric mental health nurse practitioner, you can rest assured you're becoming well-equipped to provide safe, competent care for patients with mental health concerns across the lifespan.

Experience the Davenport difference:

- One-on-one attention: Gain advanced knowledge and specialized skills in small classes that offer individualized attention from highly credentialed faculty.
- Convenience for your online nursing master's: The program is designed to be completed 100% online. You can also earn your degree in less than two years or choose part-time course delivery to fit within your demanding schedule.
- Key clinical placements: Earn a nursing MSN that supports your career goals with the right clinical placements, through the support of dedicated clinical care staff.
- Accredited by the Commission on Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE)
